I don't understand how to get a valid JSON string. I just want the response to be enclosed in double quotes so that I can put it in a div. A: If you see the Response tab on the lower left of the status bar on your Browser you'll see the Response-Text. From there you can copy the result to a text file. This is usually the same as a response you can see in your browser. I'd keep an eye on it to ensure it contains nothing strange. "What is missing," said Yvonne Collet-Sabatier, an ecology professor at the University of California at Santa Barbara, "are clear rules of thumb for these changes to take place, making it increasingly difficult to measure." Such rules of thumb are surprisingly missing, she added, especially because many of the climate changes that are happening are the result of human impacts on the environment. By far the most important thing that is missing, said Dr. Martin Siebert, the editor-in-chief of the journal Science, is a "new, better understanding of the Earth's ability to support life." "It's a devastating problem," he said. "We're pretty much over the precipice." He added, "If we don't make rapid progress, within the next 20 to 50 years we can expect irreversible changes." Dr. Siebert warned that humanity is currently "only dimly aware of what lies ahead" and "we haven't yet learned how to deal with this." In the past, the issues that led to the collapse of civilizations — like drought, plague or plagues and famine — were not linked to climate changes. But in this century climate change is intertwined with the breakdowns that used to be associated with other problems. A set of new studies, for example, have shown that serious droughts are now occurring with about the same frequency as the period between World Wars I and II, and seem linked to humans, as the most recent on record. "Climate change is affecting everything," said Milton Abramowitz, a professor of physics at Yale and the author of the first of the new books on climate change, "especially water," which he said was the "great mischievous issue 50b96ab0b6
